PEAT SMOKE

New Stiffing Residents of South Norwalk.

South Norwalk is infested with a smoke nuisance such as has been troubling Greenwich for some time. The smoke is so thick that it is almost impossible to see across the street. It is so thick that it is almost impossible to see across the street. It is so thick that it is almost impossible to see across the street.

GET NEW UNIFORMS.

Colonel Geddes Endorses Change Following Criticism.

Following a criticism for appearing in their olive-drab uniforms on dress parade in Waterbury, a few weeks ago, by Waterbury citizens, including the Waterbury press, the Second Regiment band has decided upon a new uniform. The new uniform will be blue in color, and somewhat lighter in shade than the previous one. It will be made of a material which is more durable and less expensive than the old one.

Fleet in the Pacific.

A conference of Pacific coast representatives has been called by Governor or Minister of California to unite upon a demand for the presence of the American fleet in the Pacific waters. The conference is being held in San Francisco. The representatives of the various Pacific coast states are attending. The conference is being held in San Francisco. Daughters of the King to Meet.

The annual local assembly of the Daughters of the King will be held in Meriden on Thursday, November 2. The speakers will include the Rev. F. M. Kerridge of New London, who will speak on "True to the Faith," the Rev. John T. Dallas, who will speak on "Reme Little Ways of Making the World Better," the Rev. H. H. Tracy of Thomaston, who will speak on "Personal Work," the Rev. E. de S. Miel of Hartford, and the Rev. William J. Clements of Meriden. The assembly will be held in the Meriden High School.

Legacy for Gov. F. B. Weeks.

By the provisions of the will of the late Jane D. Boardman, widow of Horace F. Boardman, made public at Meriden on Thursday, an estate of $250,000, according to the estimate, is disposed of. Gov. Frank B. Weeks, who managed the estate for fifteen years and is named as executor with Dr. Joseph H. Townsend of New Haven, will apparently receive about $40,000 of the estate. To him and Dr. Townsend are left the valuable Boardman home and the adjoining property on Broad street, and $50,000 in cash.

To Sell Mark Twain's Estate.

Mr. and Mrs. Ossip Garblowitch, who have been residing at Stamford, Redding, since the death of Samuel L. Clemens (Mark Twain), Mrs. Garblowitch's father, are preparing to sail for Europe in a short time. They will sell Mark Twain's native place in Russia, and the contents of his study in Berlin. Stamford is offered for sale by the estate of Mr. Clemens, but it is understood that the contents designated as The Lobster Pot, which one time was the home of Mr. Clemens' secretary, will be reserved by Mrs. Garblowitch.

To Enforce Game Laws.

That the game laws will be enforced strictly in Stamford is apparent in the action of County Game Warden William F. Smith. Mr. Smith has secured a deputy whose sole business will be to patrol the wooded sections of Stamford in search of violators of the law for the coming two months. Yesterday the county game warden and deputies C. Fred Bowley and Walter Pabst were in the woods over Westover way from early morning until midnight looking for Sunday shooters and song bird slayers. They found none. Stamford Advocate.

Hebrew School at New Britain.

The Hebrew School association of New Britain, which was organized by teacher, M. Shapiro, of Bayonne, N. J. There are two other teachers, W. Frichburg and J. Epstein. There are now 105 pupils registered at the school. The sessions are held daily, following the public school sessions. The pupils are taught the Hebrew language and are also given religious instruction.

Sleeping Sickness, for instance.

"Nevertheless," says the New York World, "Chicago is a stable town and we do not believe Philadelphia will catch R in the next decade." Catch Chicago? We would not. There are enough of the "stomach" diseases in the city without trying to mix up anything more virulent. Philadelphia Inquirer.

PRISON SENTENCE

For William Rundell in Criminal Superior Court.

Pleading guilty to a charge of rape, committed, according to the allegations, in the rear of the White City, declared sane by a physician named to examine him, William Rundell was sentenced in the criminal superior court Tuesday by Judge William S. Case to not less than twelve nor more than twenty years in state's prison. In the case it was claimed that Rundell pretended to be a constable and that he held up Vera Sabria and a companion for alleged trespassing and then, following the girl's companion to go, it is claimed, he committed the assault. This is a game which it is said has been played many times in the city and is likely to be broken up as a result of the stiff sentence imposed in this case. -New Haven Journal-Courier.

Fake Investment Schemes.

Warren Dickson, the new head of the postoffice inspectors in New York city, said the other day: "In the last ten years the American people have invested $50,000,000 in fake mining schemes." He says: "Twenty-cent shares sell for $100. The postoffice authorities declare that the circulars and other documents sent out through the mail by one man (just arrested) and his agents to induce the public to invest in a certain stock resulted in a loss to the people of $1,500,000. The government, which has tried to keep a sharp eye on such dishonesties, is more than ever determined entirely to suppress them. Avarice has such a dense cloud of smoke settled down upon the city, entered the houses and dimmed the brightness of electric lights, moon and stars. Last evening the smoke was so thick that it was the eyes of people who were out and disturbed the slumbers of the sleeping. The trouble comes from the post office near the turnpike. A fire on the avenue which is on fire. It is said that after the boys have reached a certain temperature they dryness the sun sets them afire. In Greenwich the swamps are burning six feet deep.

Greek Scholar a Waiter.

A student at Columbia University was living with his mother at one of the large hotels in New York. When preparing for an examination he often brought his books to the table and worked at Latin and Greek between the courses of his dinner. It happened one evening that he had considerable trouble over his Greek. The man who waited on the table saw his predicament and finally said quietly, "If you will let me come to you some time this evening I will be glad to help you over that translation." The boy was surprised, but eagerly reached for any aid in sight. It transpired that the waiter was a graduate of a European university, well able to coach the puzzled student. -Christian Herald.

Dance on the Ceiling.

A student of the Tyrol and Tyrolese people describes a remarkable dance in which the male dancers beat time on the ceiling with their feet. "In Brandenburg and one or two other Tyrolese valleys which boast of a particular muscular fair sex," says the writer, "the girl at the conclusion of her swain's fantastical jumps catches hold of him by his braces and hoists him up in the air. He, of course, helps by jerking himself upward when she lifts, and then, balancing with his hands on her shoulders, he treads the ceiling of the low room to the tune of the music, and she continues to dance around on the floor of the room. Such dances are rapidly falling into disuse."

A Sure Way of Saving.

An ingenious method of putting his savings beyond his own reach was adopted by a German writer who found from dire experience that all his profits melted away as soon as earned. Having made $80,000 by a fortunate literary speculation, he placed the whole of the money, together with his will, in the Imperial Deposit bank at Berlin and on receiving the receipt from the cashier deliberately tore it up. The cashier thought he was mad and told him angrily that he would take fully three years before he could expect to obtain a duplicate receipt. "That is just what I have torn up the original," calmly remarked the depositor. "And now the money is safe for that time."

Undesirable Citizens.

An American who spends much of his time in England tells of a cockney who went to a dealer in dogs and thus described what he wanted: "I want a kind of dog about so 'igh an' so long. His's a kind of gr'ound, an' yet it ain't a gr'ound, because 'is 'tyle is shorter nor any of these 'ere gr'ounds, an' 'is nose is shorter, an' 'e ain't so slim round the body. But still 'e's a kind of gr'ound. Do you hear such a dog?" "We do not," said the dog man. "We drowns 'em!" -Harper's Weekly.

To Thread a Hair Through a Walnut.

To pass a hair through a walnut without boring a hole seems an impossibility, but the feat has often been done. The hull of the walnut when examined with a strong glass is seen to have innumerable small openings, some of which lead entirely through the nut. The trick consists in using a very fine hair and an infinite amount of patience. Pass the hair into one of these minute crevices and urge it gently along. Sometimes it will appear on the other side at the first trial, but if it comes out at the hundred and first you will be very lucky.

Lending His Face.

The old professor was very tired. He explained why. "I have been sitting for four hours this afternoon," said he, "for my portrait. I'll never do it again. I am tired to death."

Recovered.

"Did your husband recover after his illness?" "No," replied the widow, "he died."
